(a) Prohibition. This Act permanently prohibits evictions from residential premises in [local jurisdiction] based on any prohibited basis, as defined below. Records of eviction procedures brought in violation of this Act shall be sealed or expunged.

(b) Prohibited Basis for Evictions. Each of the following is a prohibited basis for eviction:

- i. failure to pay, in whole or in part, any amount of rent due under a lease of residential premises, or related fees or charges, if such amounts, fees, or charges became due during the housing emergency period;
- ii. occupancy of residential property by a former mortgagor, if a mortgage on the property was subject of a foreclosure action based on failure to pay, in whole or in part, any mortgage payment, or related fees or charges, that became due during the housing emergency period.

- iii. No eviction order may be served, executed, or established.
- iv. Eviction notices, eviction orders, and eviction cases that commenced prior to the effectiveness of the housing emergency period may not be processed, advanced, or enforced, either by courts or by other local governmental or law enforcement authorities.

Such officers, employees, agents, and departments shall take all appropriate action to advance the intent of this Act, protecting health and safety of residents by allowing residents to remain in their homes regardless of failure to make rent or mortgage payments during the housing emergency period. [Local officials] shall brief [local law enforcement] on public responsibilities related to this Act.

Section 6. Enforcement.

(a) Notification. The [local government housing dept] shall establish and carry out a system to notify all tenants and mortgagors of residential property within [local government jurisdiction] of the requirements of this Act, with specificity regarding the suspension of payment obligations set forth in Sections 3 and 4 herein; and of tenants' and mortgagors' right to pursue legal action as set forth in this Section. Notification will be provided in all languages commonly spoken in [local jurisdiction]. Information and training will be provided to housing court, law enforcement, and other impacted agencies on compliance.

(b) Emergency Resident Claim to Restore Access to Premises. Any resident displaced from residential premises in violation of Section 5 may bring an action in a court of competent jurisdiction for an order or writ ordering the resident to be restored to such premises. Such a claim shall constitute an emergency and critical function of the judicial system. The court shall schedule a hearing on the complaint for as soon as practicable after claim filing. Unless the hearing on the complaint is held the same day as it is filed, the court shall consider the sworn allegations in the complaint and may issue an ex parte order that entitles the resident to immediate and temporary possession of the premises pending the hearing. [Such a claim may be filed electronically] [Such hearing may be held by telephonic or videoconference or through other remote means] [Add other local procedures for claim processing.]

(c) Civil Action.

i. In General. Any resident or mortgagor aggrieved by violation of this Act by an adverse action taken by a landlord or mortgage holder for exercising rights under this Act section may commence a civil action under this section against the landlord or mortgage holder in a court of valid jurisdiction, not later than two years after such violation.

iii. Private Civil Action for Damages. A resident adversely affected by any violation of Section 3 of this Act may bring a civil action to restrain further violations and to recover his or her damages, costs, and reasonable attorney fees. In the case of a willful violation, such resident shall also be awarded a statutory damage equal to his or her actual and consequential damages or three times the monthly rent, whichever is greater. An action under this subsection may be combined with or brought in addition to an action under subsection (a) of this section. Sovereign immunity is waived with respect to any violation of Section 3 of this Act

A landlord or mortgage holder that attempts to displace a resident from residential premises in violation of this Act shall be subject to civil penalties assessed by [local jurisdiction]. [Local jurisdiction/department/official] shall establish a system of civil penalties for landlords and mortgage holders found to be in noncompliance with this Act.

(d) No Terminations Based on Assertions of Rights. No landlord shall terminate, or attempt to terminate, a residential tenancy that existed during the housing emergency period wholly or in part because of the resident’s assertion or exercise of a right or protection arising under this Act. It shall be a defense to a lease termination or eviction proceeding that the landlord’s action was motivated wholly or in part by the resident’s assertion of such right or protection.

(e) No Entry. Except as provided in this subsection, it shall not be a violation of a residential rental agreement for a resident who occupies residential premises to deny entry by the landlord during the housing emergency period. For purposes of this section, “landlord” includes any person accompanying the landlord or authorized by the landlord to enter premises (such as a prospective buyer or future tenant).

(f) Lease termination by tenant or by mutual agreement. Nothing in this Act prohibits a resident from terminating a rental agreement in the manner otherwise prescribed by contract or relevant law. Nothing in this Act prohibits a landlord and resident from terminating a tenancy by mutual agreement.
